Northern Valley Church celebrates 75th Anniversary

Over 350 people packed St. John the Baptist Ukrainian Catholic Church at Northern Valley for Sunday's celebration of the 75th Anniversary of the parish, and later gathered for a fine dinner and program of presentations and speeches honoring the pioneers who established the church so many years ago.

History of the church goes back to 1910, when ten families gathered to establish a church in their very new community. Fifteen more families joined the next year, and the sum of $10 was gathered to purchase the land for a church and cemetery. Plans were laid for the first log church by a board of trustees which included Peter Zarowny, Peter Kozicky and B. Povaschuk, with J. Faryna as treasurer. The first church service, after three years of services in various homes, was held April 25, 1913, with the church located where Northern Valley Store now stands. A second church was located just south of the present bell tower, while the present church was constructed in 1931, at the cost of $1972, plus $606 for interior finishing work. Recent modernization and refurbishing have made the handsome, three-domed structure a source of pride to all members of the parish.

A look at the 1910-1918 register shows many of the same family names as those of the approximately 50 families currently attending the church.

Most Reverend Bishop Demetrius Greschuk of the Edmonton Eparchy blessed the festive gathering with his presence, and was celebrant for the Divine Liturgy Sunday morning. Bishop Greschuk also spoke at the after-dinner program, noting that he was overwhelmed by the way the parish was celebrating their special anniversary. He congratulated Father Joseph Royer and the people of all ten parishes in the district on their teamwork in the recent Millennium celebration at Derwent, which he said was the best he had attended to the present time. He was also pleased to see so many young people taking part.

'When we look back and see what we have inherited, it strengthens us and improves our future,' the Bishop said, adding that he was 'deeply impressed by the Parish...the great sacrifices of the pioneers who established it have not gone in vain.'

THREE QUARTERS OF A CENTURY--was marked by the parish of St John the Baptist Ukrainian Catholic Church, Northern Valley, this weekend. Sharing their pride in the celebration were (left to right) Church Board Chairman Paul Bezpalko, Deacon David Motiuk, Most Reverend Bishop Demetrius Greschuk, and Father Joseph Royer.

Fair Board plans finishing touches

By Irene Magnusson

A dedicated Elk Point Agricultural Fair Board met at the Magnusson home, on Monday, August 8, to plan final details and review the train of events which they hope will lead to Elk Point's finest Fair to date.

Several special displays are planned, with a presentation at 3:00 p.m. by District Agriculturalist Kirsty Ross. District Home Economist Monica King will have a timely display on Pressure Canning from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m., while other displays will occur throughout the day.

Entries will be received, along with an entry fee of $1 per exhibitor, at the Elks Hall, from 1:00 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Friday, August 19. Please have your tags made out ahead of time, and attached properly to the article to be entered. Tags are available at the Lakeland Review office, and from any Convenor. Convenors are listed in the Prize List booklet, which is available at the Review office and at Phil's Hardware.

All convenors will be pleased to answer any questions you may have.

Viewing of the exhibits is on Saturday, August 20, from 2:00 to 8:00 p.m.

The awarding of prizes and Grand Aggregate ribbons will take place at 7:00 p.m. on Saturday. From 8:00 to 8:30 p.m. that day, all exhibits are to be removed from the hall.

An added attraction on Saturday will be the display of antique and collectors cars, under the supervision of Larry Demchuk and Glen Harms, to be lined up along 49th Avenue between 50th and 51st Streets, a half block south of the hall. Some 35 to 40 'old' vehicles are expected in the line-up, an excellent chance for all to go down and have a look, while reminiscing on the 'good old days' and the 'good old cars' that we used to drive.

Also note that a sale of local arts and crafts will be underway in the Pioneer Circle Hall, next door to the Elks Hall, from 1:00 to FCSS YOUTH WORKER--Dyvonna Anderson is thanked by FCSS Director Marne McCowan for her outstanding efforts over the summer months. As holidays rapidly near the end, Ms. Anderson will be heading back to the U of A to continue her education.

Elk Point FCSS community news

By Marnie McCowan

It's time for us to say goodbye to Dyvonna Anderson, our Community Youth Worker, for the past few months. Dyvonna has been a dedicated and committed member of the FCSS team. Her efforts to support the youth of our community have been greatly appreciated by the FCSS Board, Director, community and youth. We will miss you, Dyvonna, and wish you all the best in your studies as you return to the U of A this fall.

I would like to thank the community of Elk Point and local businesses for their support of our summer youth programs. We had only to ask and you were there to support us. What a community!

NEWCOMERS We would like you to join us in welcoming the following new families to Elk Point: Randy and Joanne Boorse, Dr. G. Tailleux, Daniel and Shirley Quinn, Lillian and Cal Harper, and Bill and Joyce Tremblay.

PLAYSCHOOL We are taking registration for our playschool program, which begins this fall. Please call us at 724-3800 to register or if you require further information regarding our program.

INFORMATION NIGHT A great opportunity to find out what is happening in Elk Point and to register for participation in clubs and organizations. Our tentative date is September 19, 1988. We will keep you informed and letters will be going out to clubs and organizations over the next few weeks.

PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT FOR WOMEN Watch for this one, ladies. We hope to be your host for a day or evening of fascinating events that will enrich your lives OR at least be a lot of fun. Our tentative date: sometime in early October.

Hope the remainder of your summer is safe and great!

Fair board finalizes plans

6:00 p.m. on Saturday. Not too soon to think of those Christmas gifts (remember, you were going to shop earlier this year?), as well as many articles for your own use.

The twenty-some dedicated persons who are responsible for the success of the Elk Point Ag Fair have done their work well, and have high hopes that the Fair will again be a full scale success. One should note that all of these people are volunteers, and are paid only in the satisfaction of knowing they have done their best to make the Fair a success. However, the final success depends on you who enter the best samples of your efforts over the past year, your baking, sewing, canning, crafts, art work, photos, writing, flowers, vegetables, grains, etc., and encourage your kids to enter their best efforts as well, in the Junior section.

Watch for the posters around town, and do pack up your best efforts and enter them in the Elk Point Fair!

Church anniversary

Father Royer thanked his parishioners and all the others who have helped with planning and work for the celebration, during the past 6 to 8 months, and told them that their efforts showed family and friends 'a spirit of pride' in the parish. He gave all present several 'commandments for success' which included living each day as if one's life hung in the balance, and learning that with patience, one can control one's own destiny. He presented a token of appreciation to former Cantor Harry Gulayec, now with the Angle Lake Parish, and an icon of the church's patron saint, St. John, to Board Chairman Paul Bezpalko, for the church. Father Royer also presented a Byzantine cross to Deacon David Motiuk, who will be ordained next week.

Many honored guests were present for the celebration, including Elk Point Mayor Byron Mann, County of St. Paul Councillor John Hutton, and MLA John Drobot, who brought warm wishes for continued success, both on their own behalf and from Deputy Prime Minister Don Mazankowski and Premier Don Getty.

Displays of Ukrainian artwork, embroidery, pottery and artifacts from pioneer days were visited by many of those present, who also enjoyed the display of pictures spanning the 75 years of church history.

Out our way

By Mildred Dunham

Ferguson Flats and Primrose were booming with festivity this weekend. Tammy Tilley came home last week with her 'mystery friend' from Norman Wells, NWT, and in a matter of about four days, became Mrs. Allan Culley. The wedding took place at her brother Darcy's place in Bonnyville. Sunday was an open house at Primrose where guests enjoyed the video tape of the wedding, lunch and refreshments, games of golf involving gopher holes, horseback riding and the general reunion of friends and relatives.

Also on the weekend, a birthday party was held in honor of Marge Hefernan's 65th birthday at the Ferguson Flats Hall. Again, friends and neighbors gathered to enjoy refreshments and lunch, ball games, singing and dancing. One new guest at the party was baby Christopher Robert, born to Marge's daughter Sharon and Bob Poitras July 21st. Marge's mother from Vermilion also made it to the party and is still well enough to enjoy it.

Other recent news: David Ockerman of Ferguson Flats and Erica Elliott were married in Dewberry and the crowd there was fantastic. Congratulations are going out to this happy couple, now residing near Dewberry.

Raymond Brown of Ferguson Flats married a girl at Wainwright. Congratulations and best wishes are extended to this couple, residing at Wainwright.

Margaret Anderson will soon be getting married, and a shower was held for her at the Lindbergh curling rink.

Lorraine Dunham, a past resident of Lindbergh is back living on a farm near Lindbergh.

Elsie and Clarence Tilley enjoyed a trip to the Yukon in July. They have a moose story that will appear in a future issue.

Charles Nelson, a former resident of Ferguson Flats, had his eldest daughter's wedding in the city.

Donna and Freddie Zapesocki are proud parents of a baby boy, Nicholas.

Susan and Terry Porcina (daughter of Jim and Betty Brown of Lindbergh) had a son, Jason, born Aug. 3.

Margie and Walter Saranchuk had a home party to celebrate Walter's 65th birthday.

Sympathy from the Primrose and Ferguson Flats district and surrounding communities is extended to the relatives and friends of Sophie Ashby who passed away, and also to the Thomson family on the loss of Hugh's wife.

Seismic activity is once again taking place in the Primrose area.

Teen program winds down

By Dyvonna Anderson
FCSS Youth Worker

Friday, August 19 will be the final afternoon for the Teen Centre summer program. The movie, entitled Eighteen Again, is being donated by Rhondaray Confectionery.

I have enjoyed being the Elk Point Teen Leader for the past three months. I would like to thank those who donated their time, money, movies and countless other efforts. Thank you to the staff at Rhondaray, Video Point, Tags, CBM, Dave's Pizza, Empress Restaurant, the Co-op, the library, the Elks and the AARNA. Thanks to the volunteer van drivers and to all of the volunteers throughout the summer months. The Teen Centre would not have been able to function without you.

The Teen Centre will re-open in the fall when a replacement is found to fill the position of FCSS Youth Worker. I hope to see even more teens involved by next summer.

Welcome golfers

A warm welcome to all those attending the Elk Point Oilmen's Fifth Annual Golf Tournament.

Along with substantial growth, the coming of the oil industry to the Elk Point area has brought us many new and valued residents, who contribute to the life of our community in many ways. One of these ways is by their hosting of the annual Golf Tournament and, earlier in the year, the Oilmen's Bonspiel, which bring many visitors to enjoy our facilities and our town's hospitality.

dates coincide with our annual Agricultural Fair, and we invite you to come over and view the exhibits, especially this year's first-ever Antique and Collectors' Car Show, which promises to be great.

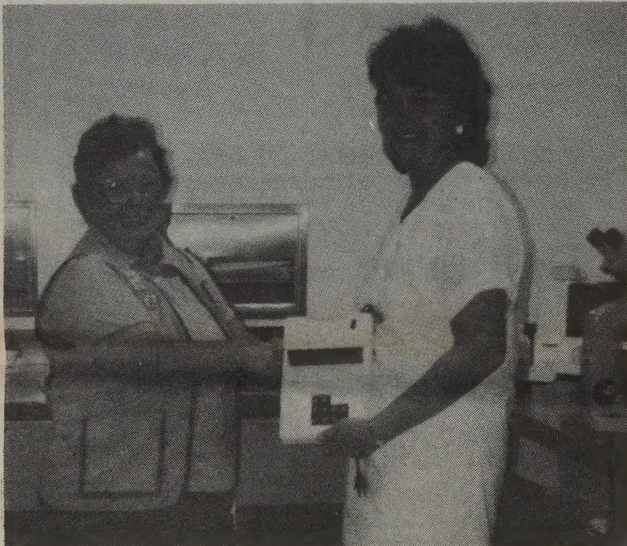

Also, please stop by our Tourist Information Centre on Highway 41 and 50 Avenue, sign our visitor's book and pick up some information about the area. We're proud of our town and of the beauties of the Lakeland which surrounds us, and we hope you will enjoy your visit here...and come back and see us again.

This year, your Tournament

HARVEST WILL INCLUDE POTATOES — Like these netted gems in my wheelbarrow a couple of years ago. I probably received that load in return for two cut-up seed potatoes. I like harvesting potatoes.

I. Magnusson

LEE JOHNSON—Treasurer of the Elk Point and District Lioness Club, cheerfully presents a Tally III Baxter CSA Tabulator to Agnes Moroziuk, Supervisor of Lab and X-Ray, at the Elk Point Hospital.

You can understand why she smiles as she receives it, for this tidy little machine will now do the counting of cells, automatically, where before they had to be counted 'by hand' individually, thus making for a lot less work and a lot more speed in getting the desired results when cell tabulation is required.

Any piece of equipment that cuts down labor and makes work more accurate, is all to the good, especially in a hospital. The Lionesses are to be praised for their thoughtful gift, the Tabulator running around $500, and may take pride in knowing they have made life a bit easier for some people.

Alberta Trails

Harvesting commences - or does it

By Irene Magnusson

We usually think of harvest as an Autumn task, bringing in the sheaves with golden leaves ringing the fields, scarlet pincherry bushes stalking down the line fences, and flocks of geese and cranes passing overhead. Dawn should burst in pink and purple, with the golden ball of sun disappearing in harvest-dust haze, with the day's work but half done, and the farm kids packed off on the school bus.

Seems to me, harvest has been going on all summer...what with those hay bales starting to pop up on the fields, some as early as June. Then, for some of us, there were strawberries to gather up out of their leaves, and by July 3rd the raspberries were showing lots of red.

On it goes, with saskatoons abundant, those of us who revel in the gifts of nature and are not above appreciating those delicious morsels, were busy gathering them in, sorting, freezing, or canning.

This year saw a number of farmers with fields of fall rye, which in the hot dry days, very quickly went to seed and ripened, so that harvest has been in progress, along with a few who collect their feed with forage harvesters, to make silage.

A few rain days have interfered, coming too late to make any improvement in those early crops, but good for everything else, especially to make the grass grow, so we can spend a lot of time chasing a lawn mower around the yard—also a harvest, of sorts.

Gardeners know the pressure of getting all those peas picked before they ripen up and become tough and rattle, while beans will grow two inches overnight, and try their best to turn into seed pods before we can harvest them, nicely green or gold, the way our taste buds decree.

So what to do with 47 big fat cabbages, ready to use by the first week of August, a host of cauliflowers, broccoli, swiss chard, tomatoes weighting their bushes onto the ground? Harvest them, of course.

What if it means you are cutting cabbage until midnight, washing, piercing and pickling your dilled cucumbers in the early dawn, sending reluctant kids out with buckets for yet more berries, more peas, more beans? Almost no one gives the housewife credit for getting her harvest in. Yet it is just as important and pressing as any other harvest. I never could figure out how a household could manage without a vegetable garden and all the canning, freezing and preserving in various ways that goes with it. The grocery bills must be horrendous!

And then there is the taste! What can compare with homemade, home-grown, or the wild fruits of our land?

I see, this fall, the fruit trees around town and in my neighbor's yards are full of crabapples, and other apples. Who would have thought our 'frozen north' could produce all these delicious 'warmer climes' fruits? I wonder who has been enterprising enough to try pears, or peaches? I know there are cherries, and various apples.

Out in the wilds, pincherries have laden the trees, and chokecherries are hanging like black jewels, rich, ripe and delicious. They make good jelly and syrup, too, but I can do away with an awful lot of them 'as is' when they are ripe and black. (A little frost doesn't hurt them, either.)

There are many other fruits we can harvest, if the season is right. (And we can find them!) There are low-bush cranberries, (or mooseberries), high-bush cranberries, and ground cranberries, the kind you cook up to make the Thanksgiving turkey the true feast of feasts.

Wild or tame gooseberries are a treat, made up into jam, or to eat out of hand when in their purple stage, and these go well with other fruits, such as raspberries or rhubarb, to make a super jam. We can grow them ourselves, or get lucky and find wild ones, when it comes to currants, either red or black. These make only the most superior jelly, and are excellent as juice to drink, if you happen to have a juicer to extract that nectar with. A bit too strong by itself, currant juice is delicious when mixed one part juice with one part water and one part ginger ale. All of the cranberries can be used the same way, or made into sparkling red jelly. And don't tell me you never eat jelly or jam on your toast!

Later on, the 'in yard' harvest will include pulling up the carrots, parsnips and other roots, digging those fat brown or pink potatoes, pulling and tying up the onions. These last can wait until there has been a nip of frost, their large tops will protect them and anyway, they are under the still-warm ground. But you had better do something with all those tomatoes before then!

I am getting to be such a lazy gardener, I won't tie up my tomatoes as they should be, so they are dragging their branches on the ground. I've been picking off the larger ones, never mind waiting for them to ripen, I know they can do that indoors, safe from all frost, in a box in my basement.

There they will reside, until one by one, dozen by dozen, they will ripen, then I must activate myself again, and either can them (preferably) or freeze them (an act of desperation) or (and inevitably) eat them.

I used to grow peppers and cucumbers, dill, celery—all sorts of nice exotic things. Now I know my limitations—or at least suspect them—and grow only what I know I will eat, but not necessarily be able to eat. Take swiss chard, for example (and I wish someone would!). It's delicious, and I love it, but what can one person do against a truckload of chard? My row is only 7 or 8 feet long, yet those prolific plants have produced excessively. Next year, I will plant only 6 seeds, maybe 8, to allow for some to fail.

My friend gave me a vegetable marrow last fall. I skinned it, and scooped out the seeds, throwing this offal into the garden, as I do with all biodegradables, hoping to enrich my soil. As the potatoes grew, I noticed an odd plant among them, and wondered what it was. Next time I looked at it, it was 20 feet long, had six hefty marrows on it, and looked like it was set to take over the garden. I hindered that plan, by cutting off all its shoots, but whatever will I do with the six large marrows—when I still have some of the one from last year left on the shelf???

So here we are, not even in the middle of August yet, and well into harvesting, of whatever sort we are into. I do hope the farmers will not be too disappointed with their results this year, and some of the crops look quite good to me, although I know you go by what gets into the bin, not what they look like. Some have had their efforts brought to nought by hail, most have been somewhat damaged by lack of moisture early on, but there have been rains, and the sun hath shone—so I hope there will be reasonably full bins.

I also hope said farmers don't fall-work the bejabbers out of their land, so at least some of it will be here next spring when seeding time comes around again. Meanwhile, happy harvesting.

Greetings from the Mayor

On behalf of the citizens of Elk Point, let me extend a warm welcome to all the golfers and sponsors of the Fifth Annual Oilmen's Golf Tournament. This annual event improves and grows in notoriety each year. By attracting oilmen from across northern Alberta to this tournament, Elk Point has an opportunity to promote our community, its attractions and its people. All of us need to capitalize on this and similar opportunities if Elk Point is going to maximize its tourism.

Congratulations to the Oilmen's Association for organizing what is sure to be another successful tournament.

Mayor Byron Mann

In Memoriam

KRYVENCHUK, Lena

In loving memory of my dear wife and mother, Lena Kryvenchuk, who passed away August 17, 1986. In the lonely hour of thinking, Thoughts of you are ever near, God alone knows how we miss you, As there dawns another year. Someone at dawn and noontide — Someone at dusk and night, Lifts you to God's safe keeping — I trust you in God's clear sight. I have lost my soul's companion, A life linked with my own; Sadly I miss your footsteps, As I wander all alone, God is good. He gave me strength To bear my heavy cross; He is the only one who knows My bitter loss.

Sadly missed and always remembered by her husband Sankey and family.

WHAT'S NEWS at the Library

By Michelle Whitlock

The Elementary Summer Reading Program children will be kicking up their heels this week as they learn the 'Texas Line Dance!' It's bound to be a good old time, so round up a cowboy hat and come join us at the library. The Preschool program will also be dancing up a storm as they finally get a chance to learn the Busy Scissors dance. The dance will not take very long to learn, so a surprise craft will follow the dance for the preschoolers.

The mural painting that the Elementary and Preschool programs did last week was a huge success. The Elementary program's theme was about the town of Elk Point. Houses, trees, flowers and of course, the library, were displayed prominently on paper. The Preschoolers' theme was about books. Some of the children chose to paint themselves as others painted sharks, whales and dogs that they had seen in various books we have read to them. The murals were drawn on paper outside the curling rink and we all hope that they were viewed by anyone passing near that area of town.

This week's Thursday Matinee is called "Baby". This Walt Disney film has been found by some adventuring adults. It's going to be great, so remember, the movie is at 2:00 p.m. and it is FREE!

Lucky for us, our librarian, Doreen Mayner came back to work this Monday. Unfortunately, this Friday is Kris Ann's last day. Anyway, the library hopes to see her in the future when she comes back to visit from the U of A where she is studying to become a teacher.

(Editor's Note: Our apologies for missing out on the mural painting—we hope everyone had fun!)
